

Kentucky People

LEXINGTON

Kentucky Excellence Award

Gov. Ernie Fletcher presents Gene Woods, president and CEO of Saint Joseph HealthCare, the Kentucky Excellence Award at a ceremony in May at the Lafayette Club in Lexington. The award recognizes organizations in their successful drive toward excellence. Also pictured are (from left to right): Dr. J. Martin Favetto of Saint Joseph HealthCare; Bob Gardner, KYCPE board member; Bob Hewett of Fifth Third Bank and chair of Saint Joseph's board of directors; Ron Kincer, KYCPE president and CEO; and Dr. Charles Kennedy, also of Saint Joseph HealthCare.

FRANKFORT

Agribusiness Scholarship

Nine recipients of scholarships from the Agribusiness/Governor's Scholars Program were honored in June in Frankfort. Pictured are (from left, front row): Elydia Thomas, University of Kentucky; Allison Bickers, Georgetown College; Sierra Enlow, UK; Sarah Meeks, Morehead State University, and Sarah Sheffel, UK. Back row, from left: Marc Ettensohn, UK; John Hendricks, Georgetown College; Christopher Bellis-Jones, Eastern Kentucky University, and Dalenisha Crosby, UK.

LEXINGTON

National College of Business Lexington Grand Opening

Matt Barton photo

National College of Business and Technology has moved its Lexington campus from the original downtown location to a new site in the city's Hamburg area near I-75. Attending the June 20 grand opening for the new campus were (l-r): Pat Brown, campus director-Cincinnati; Ed Lane, 12th District councilman, Lexington-Fayette County; Jim McGuire, campus director-Danville; Jim Pershing, campus director-Indianapolis; Frank Longaker, president; Dick Wood, president emeritus; Ron Thomas, campus director-Florence; Jerry Lafferty, campus director-Louisville; Janet Head, campus director-Pikeville; Rose Longaker; Keeley Gadd, campus director-Richmond; Judy Longaker; and Kim Thomasson, campus director-Lexington.

NICHOLASVILLE

FEI Games Title Sponsor

Staff photo

Gov. Ernie Fletcher, World Games 2010 Foundation CEO Jack Kelly, games chairman Jim Host, Alltech CEO Dr. Pearse Lyons and others were on hand in June for the announcement of Alltech's $10 million sponsorship of the 2010 FEI Games, to be held in Lexington at the Kentucky Horse Park. The announcement was made at Alltech's headquarters in Nicholasville. It will be the largest single sponsorship ever for the games.