

Kentucky People

LOUISVILLE Kentucky State Fair

The 100th Kentucky State Fair officially began its 11-day celebration of all things Kentucky on Aug. 19, as local and state officials cut the ribbon at the opening day ceremonies. Pictured from left to right: Jerry Abramson, Metro Louisville mayor; Richie Farmer, Kentucky commissioner of agriculture; Lanny Greer, Kentucky State Fair board chairman; Ernie Fletcher, governor of Kentucky; Glenna Fletcher, first lady of Kentucky; and W. James Host, Kentucky Commerce Cabinet secretary.

ATHENS, GREECE 2004 Olympics

Brian Sosby, managing editor of EQUESTRIAN magazine, was onsite in Athens for the 2004 Olympic Games as a journalist covering equestrian events. From Lexington, Ky., he works for the United States Equestrian Federation, located at the Kentucky Horse Park.

CHILE Economic Development Trip

Governor Ernie Fletcher and First Lady Glenna Fletcher visit with Mr. & Mrs. Eduardo Matte of Haras de Pirque, a horse farm and vineyard near Santiago, Chile, as part of an economic development trip the governor made there last month.

LOUISVILLE Greater Louisville Inc. Leadership Breakfast

Greater Louisville Inc. and local business leaders welcomed U.S. Rep. Anne Northup (right) and House Majority Whip Roy Blunt (second from left) earlier last month for breakfast and a discussion. Other guests at the breakfast included Al Sullivan (far left), president and CEO of Sullivan University, and Allen D. Rose, former secretary for Kentucky's Workforce Cabinet.